Election Returns.

The election returns, which we publish this morning, are meagre and unsatisfactory. The Democrats have carried the county of Hamilton, Ohio, by a majority of 1,000. This is a gain on the last year's vote of about 2,000, and renders it possible that the Democrats may have carried the Legislature. The returns from Pennsylvania indicate an Opposition triumph.

FINE ARTS.—We would call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Mr. C. C. Spencer of a large and choice collection of superb oil paintings, now on free exhibition at the new store house, Jefferson street, near Third, to be sold at auction on Thursday next. The catalogue embraces one hundred and fifty-two pictures—All are not of striking merit, as could hardly be expected in so large a number, but most of them are good—many are better, and some of them very superior, among which we would notice "Evangeline," from Longfellow, a fine copy of Coles' "Voyage of Life," battle of Monmouth, N. J., portrait of Robert Burns, full length portrait of Gen. Lafayette, the Mother's Dream and Believer's Vision, a choice pair of parlor paintings, the Landing of the Pilgrims at Plymouth Rock, a fine copy of the Madonna after Raphael, the Fired Chums, two well executed Fruit Pieces, and a variety of landscapes from American scenery too numerous to mention. Take them altogether they excel any offered for competition heretofore in this city. They will remain on exhibition day and evening until the sale.

THEATER.—"The Hidden Hand" brought out another immense audience last night. Its performance was, if possible, better than on the preceding evening. Everything moved off smoothly, the performers gathering inspiration from the close attention and flattering applause of their hearers. The piece is decidedly the most popular one ever produced in Louisville, and it has not only attracted the regular theater-goers, but large numbers of those who rarely visit the establishment.

As we stated yesterday, the main work of the piece is done by three characters, sustained by Miss Joey, Mr. Lorton and Mr. Ryan, as far, however, as the minor ones go, they render their parts admirably. Mr. Elmore's Black Donald is done in his usual thorough manner. He never forgets the minute detail of a character, and always with the finest touches brings the most striking points directly before the spectator. Mrs. Elmore's character of Mrs. Condiment is also a very careful piece of acting. Miss Adelaide renders her part with her accustomed sweetness. Miss Cook, Mr. Hamilton, Mr. Howland and others fill their parts justly.

"The Hidden Hand" is to be repeated again to-night, as crowds are constantly applying for seats.

BADLY SCARED, BUT NOT HURT.—A few mornings since, a man and his wife, who were in our city on a visit to the fair, rushed into Dr. Bull's office, dragging with them a boy of some six summers, the whole trio evidently in a high state of excitement.

"Doctor," said the woman, as soon as she could get her breath, "oh, Dr. Bull, James Joseph Alexander there has pisened hisself—I give him a dose of your Vegetable Worm Destroyer, and just as soon as my back was turned, he got hold of the box and eat the balance of them all up, and when I found him, he was crying for more. What shall I do?"

The Dr. quieted her apprehensions by the assurance that no bad consequences need be apprehended; that his medicine was calculated to destroy the worms and not the child; and, after purchasing half a dozen boxes more, the parents went on their way rejoicing.

It is not often that we meet with a medicine that is at once so safe and efficacious as this same Vegetable Worm Destroyer.

SOMETHING ELEGANT.—We have been presented by John W. Clarke, bookseller and stationer, 123 Mozart Hall, with a beautiful and varied assortment of note, letter, and billett paper and envelops. Among the varieties are some new styles, such as azure, rose, violet, and blanc quadrille papers; also, De La Rue's new styles of note paper with envelops attached, all of which are beautifully embossed with initials.

Mr. Clarke has procured a superior French embossing press, with a great variety of initial dies of large and small letters, so that he is enabled to emboss any lady's or gentleman's initials upon their note paper and envelops at the shortest notice. This style of paper for correspondence has become quite fashionable, and all who desire to be a la mode should not fail to avail themselves of the opportunity thus offered. Call at Mr. Clarke's store, under Mozart Hall, and see his specimens.

RE-ARRESTED.—Wm. Huff, who was lately in custody for an alleged burglary, and released on bail, is again in jail. Yesterday morning he gave bail in the Criminal Court to answer any charge that might be preferred against him, on October 17th, in that Court; and as he was leaving was again arrested. It is said that he is implicated in the robbery of the money drawer of the Ninth-street warehouse about six months ago.

☞ The attention of the traveling community is called to Walker's omnibus line, which runs in connection with the Frankfort railroad, conveying passengers to and from the hotels and private residences. His Fourth street line makes half hourly trips to and from the corner of Fourth and Main streets and Cedar Hill. Passengers in either direction should avail themselves of these omnibus lines.

HOG CHOLERA.—The Shelby News says the hog cholera is prevailing to a great extent throughout that county. Some farmers have lost nearly all their hogs.

We learn that this disease is also playing havoc with the hogs in Washington county.

ANOTHER DUEL.—On the 17th ult. another fatal duel was fought with rifles, at forty paces, near San Andreas, Cal. The parties were Dr. Peterson and Col. Wm. A. Gatewood. The former fell mortally wounded, and died in two hours.

ANOTHER BURGLARY.—A burglar entered the front door of Mr. Stratton's house, on Gray street, by means of an "outsider," on Monday night, and abstracted $100 from the pocket of Mr. Stratton's pants.

SUGAR AND MOLASSES.—A private dispatch dated New Orleans, October 11th, says: Sweets arriving. Sugar 7⅛, molasses 52¼. Old and new looking down.

☞ John Northcraft, well known here, committed suicide in Lebanon, Ky., on Sunday by jumping into a well. He was addicted to drinking.

☞ Samuel Russell, of the firm of Russell & Bennett, merchants of St. Louis, died in that city on Monday.

EXPRESS FAVORS.—Thanks to Adams Express for Cincinnati papers in advance of the mail.

Woodlawn Races—Second Day.

The interest in the races has increased considerably since Monday. The attendance on yesterday was quite large. The arrivals from Tennessee and South Kentucky were very numerous. The cars from Lexington also brought a big crowd down at 10 o'clock. The weather was delightful, and the track in first rate order. A great crowd collected in the hall of the Galt House, Monday night, at the sale of pools. Every one was anxious to invest, and as the prices ranged from $2 to $100, an opportunity was afforded those even of most limited means to do so. The result of Monday's race somewhat restricted the knowing ones in their operations for yesterday; yet the good luck of those who bought Clay's entry on Monday made them quite venturesome. The amount of money collected in the pools for this race would have fixed up the veriest scavenger in the most grandiloquent and aristocratic style for all time to come. Clay's Yorkshire horse was the favorite, but not against the field. One hundred to sixty and seventy-five was the rate at which the field was counted. For the second choice, sometimes Richard's, Viley, and Ward or Scruggs was named, according to a fellow's taste.

On the track pools were sold, ranging about as follows: Clay, $70; Ward and Viley, $31; Richards, $25; Scruggs, $22; Warfield, $15, and Butler $5.

The sweepstakes for all 3 year olds, mile heats, $100 entrance, $50 forfeit—$100 to be added by the club if two or more start—was not contested. Mr. Alexander's Volga, by Glencoe, out of Vandal's dam, walked over; and F. G Murphy and W. J. Buford paid forfeit. Next appeared six entries for the purse of $200.

FIRST HEAT.

The prancing and plunging of the high-mettled racers caused a slight delay; but at last they got a pretty fair send off for that number of entries Warfield had the inside, and his orange color showed in advance to the middle of the back stretch, Clay second, Viley third, and the others close up, and all going like the devil was after them. At the half mile Clay went by Warfield, who also gave place to Viley and Ward's. Gilpatrick, on Zadie, at this point, made a push for position, but was outfooted and fell back. As they disappeared behind the trees, Clay led Viley a length, Warfield third. When they came in sight Clay was still in the lead, hotly pursued by Viley & Ward's, the other three within five lengths. They round the turn into the stretch, Clay having the advantage, but the gallant Lexington creeping up on him. Down the stretch they come at a terrible pace, Clay still holding his own, and both under whip and spur; but within a hundred yards of the members' stand the Lexington colt makes a desperate brush, shows a head in advance, and his rider cleverly lands him a winner by a neck. The "fielders" shout, and the knowing ones don't. Warfield was third, Atchison fourth, Zadie fifth, and Scruggs' Albion colt last. Time, 1 50¼.

THE SECOND HEAT.

There wasn't much betting for this heat, the backers of the Lexington colt not pressing their luck, as they already had a good thing of it if he won, and the friends of the favorite had little chance to hedge; so they hoped on, but had great fears. The tap of the drum let them off—Warfield and Viley & Ward jumping for the lead, but the Lexington was too fleet, and on the first turn showed a full length ahead. On the back stretch the Lexington led the van, the pace being very fast—Warfield second and Clay third. On getting into the upper turn Butler's entry passed Clay and Warfield, and put in his best licks for the heat It was a fine race down the stretch, but the Lexington wasn't headed, and won the heat and race in 1:48—very fast time for a new track, and equal to 1:46 over the Lexington course. We preseut a

PARODI OPERA TROUPE AT MOZART HALL THIS EVENING.—All lovers of excellent music will be delighted to see the announcement that the opera to be performed this evening is Perdi's sublime and magnificent opera "Ernani," which was received with unbounded enthusiasm at the first representation in this city a few weeks ago by the above celebrated Opera Company "numbering fifty great artists."

The principal character will be sustained by Signora T. Parodi, of whom it is unnecessary to say anything to those who listened to her on her recent appearance here in her thrilling impersonations. Those who had the misfortune not to hear this great Artist should not loose this favorable opportunity.

Sig. Sbriglia, the handsome young tenor, will appear as "Ernani," in which character he excels. He possesses a rich, fine, and well cultivated voice, "superior to the generality of tenors in this country."

Sig. F. Gnone, the celebrated Baratone, will also appear and delight the audience, as in his recent appearance in this city. Of Sig. Gnone it is needless to speak. We have but one opinion, "and that of being a superb artist."

Sig. N. Barile, the famous Bass, will take the part of Silva, in which character we may pronounce him perfect.

The company, as a whole, are all that has been represented, and we do not know of an exception to the general praise that must be bestowed upon them. The chorus and orchestra is, without doubt, the very best that we have ever heard in this or any other city. Under the entire direction of the celebrated conductor, Sig. Angelo Tourisani.

The demand for seats yesterday was great, and there is every prospect of one of the largest and most fashionable audiences ever witnessed in this city. Secure your seats in time this morning, or you will have no chance to-night. The Mozart Hall will be fitted up for these grand operatic representations, and no expense will be spared to make the above operatic performances far surpass any previous representation.

We are told that "Polinto,' Donizetti's grand opera, will be produced by the troupe during their short stay here, of which due notice will be given.

Remember the opera this evening at 8 o'clock, at Mozart Hall. Tickets may be secured this morning at D. P. Fauld's music store, and at the Hall this evening.

COME AT ONCE, DO NOT PUT IT OFF.—Many in the city have expressed a desire to learn the different styles of painting taught by us at Webster & Bro's., Main street. To such and to all others that may be interested, we wish to say that we shall positively discontinue our teaching in this city after the twenty first of the month.

MR. & MRS. G. S. LACEY.

☞ Prof. Rarey will meet his former class and all others who may wish to learn his art at the Mechanics' Institute, this evening, at 7 o'clock. A wild colt from the country will be tamed. He gave a very satisfactory demonstration before a large audience last evening.

PERJURY.—John Harrington was tried for perjury yesterday in the Criminal Court and found guilty. The offense was committed some time since in a civil suit before Esquire Clement. The proof was deemed conclusive, and two years in the penitentiary is the penalty.

PIANO TUNING.—MR. J. W. Childs, an experienced tuner, offers his services to the public. Also will give private lessons on the piano. Orders left with the news dealer, at the Postoffice, will be promptly attended to. o10d3*

☞ We would call attention to the advertisement of Mr. J. L. Deppen, who offers his very desirable residence for sale, corner Fourteenth and Market streets.

☞ A very large display of rich and beautiful goods may be found at Dr. Ramsey's jewelry store on Main street. See his advertisement.

☞ The Grand Jury found a large number of felony indictments yesterday, as will be seen in the proceedings of the Criminal Court.

☞ Thanks to Capt. Fish Henry for Nashville papers.

☞ Great Administrator Sale of one of the finest selected stock of fall and winter dry goods, and piece goods, notions, umbrellas, table and pocket cutlery, ever offered before in this city, will be sold at L. Kahn & Co.'s new commission house, 494 Main street, one door below Fourth. I. Graman, the well known auctioneer and salesman, invites his old friends and countrymen to attend the sale, as every article offered must and will be sold regardless of price. Sale commences on Wednesday next, 12th October, at 10 o'clock, A. M., and continues during the day. This stock belongs to a late failure in Cincinnati, and consists, in part, as follows: English heavers and broadcloths, cassimeres, satinets, jeans, plush velvets, canvas, all wool flannels, canton flannels, English merinoes, assorted colors; do. plaids, delaines, prints, skirts, 500 dozen assorted merino hose and half hose, French Marsailles bedquilts; a large assortment of comforts, French flowers, head dresses, buckskin mits and gloves, carpet bags, extra size linen table cloths, Irish linen, union linen, towels, linen and cambric handkerchiefs; a large assortment of shawls, embroidery; in fact, every article necessary to assort city or country merchants. LANDS FOR SALE.—One hundred and thirty-five acres on the Nashville railroad, eleven miles from Louisville. This tract is all in wood, finely timbered, and good soil. An adjoining tract of the same number of acres can be had also, if desired.

Arrival of the Overland Mail—Particulars of Senator Broderick's Death.

The California overland mail arrived last night, bringing San Francisco dates to the 19th ult.

The San Francisco papers, which have come to hand, are engrossed by details relative to the death and burial of Senator Broderick.

We make extracts from the San Francisco Herald, whose statements are full, and appear to us fair and impartial.

DEATH OF THE HON. D. C. BRODERICK.—The Hon. David C. Broderick expired yesterday morning at twenty minutes past 9 o'clock. At 12 o'clock the night previous the indications appeared favorable for his recovery, the wounded gentleman being easier, his breathing more regular, and his general condition improved. At 2 o'clock, a. m., a change occurred for the worse, and from that hour Mr. Broderick failed rapidly. At 3 o'clock, a. m., the last rites of the church were administered by the Rev. Father Maraschi. It is as well to note in this connection, that the Rev. Father Croke, Vicar-General, and the Rev. Father Maraschi, waited upon Mr. Broderick as early as possible after he had been wounded. At 4 o'clock Mr. Broderick had fallen into a state of insensibility, from which he never emerged. He never uttered a word after 4 o'clock, a. m.

THE EFFECT IN THE CITY.

The sad intelligence was immediately conveyed to the city, and produced a deep and settled gloom on the community. The several Courts that were in session adjourned in respect to the memory of the departed Senator. The foreign Consuls hoisted their flags at half mast; the revenue flag of the United States was hoisted at half mast over the Customhouse; the civic flag of San Francisco was hoisted in like manner over the City Hall; all the engine houses carried their flags at half mast, and were draped in mourning; the shipping in the harbor displayed like evidences of respect for the memory of Mr. Broderick, and a large number of private stores and dwellings wore the sad badges of lamentation and woe.

POST MORTEM EXAMINATION.

At four o'clock yesterday afternoon a post mortem examination was made by Dr. Bertody, in the presence of Dr. McNulty, the Coroner, and Drs Hollman, Sawyer, Loehr, Russell, Starkey, and others. The autopsy showed that the ball entered the right breast between the second and third ribs, passing under the sternum (fracturing the edges), thence over the heart and through the upper lobe of the left lung, whence it took an upward and inward course through the left arm-pit, and lodged in the posterior portion of the biceps muscle of the left arm. An inquest will be held this afternoon.

THE FATE OF FRANKLIN.

THE MYSTERY REVEALED

RETURN OF THE YATCH FOX.

CAPT. M'CLINTOCK'S REPORT.

The telegraph briefly advised us that Captain McClintock, of the British Navy, had returned from the Arctic regions, with tidings of the fate of the lost navigator, Sir John Franklin. From his letter to the Admiralty we make extracts. In his letter he says:

Their Lordships will rejoice to hear that our endeavors to ascertain the fate of the "Franklin Expedition" have met with complete success.

At Point Victory, upon the northwest coast of King William's Island, a record has been found, dated the 25th of April, 1848, and signed by Captains Crozier and Fitzjames. By it we were informed that her Majesty's ships Erebus and Terror were abandoned on the 22d April, 1848, in the ice, five leagues to the N. N. W., and that the survivors—in all amounting to 105 souls, under the command of Capt. Crozier—were proceeding to the Great Fish River Sir John Franklin had died on the 11th of June, 1847.

Many deeply interesting relics of our lost countrymen have been picked up upon the western shore of King William's Island, and others obtained from the Esquimaux, by whom we were informed that subsequent to their abandonment one ship was crushed and sunk by the ice, and the other forced on shore, where she has ever since been, affording them an almost inexhaustible mine of wealth.

The report furnishes an account of his explorations, which were unsuccessful until intelligence respecting the fate of Sir John Franklin and his men was met with on King William's Island.—From this point his narrative is thus detailed:

Early spring journeys were commenced on the 15th of Feb, 1859, by Capt. Young and myself, Capt. Young carrying his depot across to Prince of Wales' Land, while I went southward, towards the magnetic pole, in the hope of communicating with the Esquimaux, and obtaining such information as might lead us at once to the object of our search.

I was accompanied by Mr. Petersen, our interpreter, and alex. Thompson, quartermaster.—We had with us two sledges, drawn by dogs.—On the 28th of February, when near Cape Victoria, we had the good fortune to meet a small party of natives, and were subsequently visited by about 45 individuals

For four days we remained in communication with them, obtaining many relics, and the information that several years ago a ship was crushed by the ice off the north shore, off King William's Island, but that all her people landed safely, and went away to the Great Fish River, where they died. This tribe was well supplied with wood obtained, they said, from a boat left by the white men on the Great River.

We reached our vessel after 25 days' absence, in good health, but somewhat reduced by sharp marching and the unusually severe weather to which we had been exposed. For several days after starting, the mercury continued frozen.

On the 2d of April our long-expected spring journeys were commenced; Lieut Hobson accompanied me as far as Cape Victoria, each of us had a sledge drawn by four men, and an auxiliary sledge drawn by six dogs. This was all the force we could muster.

Before separating we saw two Esquimaux families living out upon the ice in snow huts; from them we learned that a second ship had been seen off King William's Island, and that she drifted ashore on the fall of the same year. From this ship they had obtained a vast deal of wood and iron.

I now gave Lieut Hobson direction to search for the wreck, and to follow up any traces he might find upon King William's Island.

Accompanied by my own party and Mr. Petersen, I marched along the east shore of King William's Island, occasionally passing deserted snow huts, but without meeting natives till the 8th of May, when off Cape Norton we arrived at a snow village containing about thirty inhabitants. They gathered about us without the slightest appearance of fear or shyness, although none had seen living white people before. They were most willing to communicate all their knowledge and barter all their goods, but would have stolen everything had they not been very closely watched. Many more relics of our countrymen were obtained; we could not carry away all we might have purchased. They pointed to the inlet we had crossed the day before, and told us that one day's march up it, and thence four days overland, brought them to the wreck.

None of these people had been there since 1857-58, at which time they said but little remained, their countrymen having carried away everything.

Most of our information was received from an intelligent old woman; she said it was on the fall of the year that the ship was forced ashore; many of the white men dropped by the way as they went towards the Great River; but this was only known to them in the winter following, when their bodies were discovered.

They all assured us that we would find natives upon the south shore, at the Great River, and some few at the wreck; but unfortunately this was not the case. Only one family were met off Point Booth, and none at Montreal Island or any place subsequently visited.

Point Ogle, Montreal Island, and Barrow Island were searched without finding anything except a few scraps of copper and iron in an Esquimaux hiding place.

Recrossing the Strait to King William's Island, we continued the examination of the southern shore without success until the 24th of May, when about ten miles eastward of Cape Herschell, a bleached skeleton was found, around which lay fragments of European clothing. Upon carefully removing the snow a small pocket-book was found, containing a few letters. These, although much decayed, may yet be deciphered. Judging from the remains of his dress, this unfortunate young man was a steward or officer's servant, and his position exactly verified the Esquimaux's assertion, that they dropped as they walked along.

On reaching Cape Herschell we found, be examined Simpson's Cairn, or rather what remains of it, which is only four feet high, and the central stones have been removed, as if by men seeking something in it My impression at the time, and which I still retain is, that records were deposited there by the retreating crews, and subsequently removed by the natives.

After parting from me at Cape Victoria on the 25th of April, Lieut. Hobson made for Cape Felix At a short distance westward of it he found a very large cairn, and close to it three small tents, with blankets, old cloth

LOUISVILLE:

WEDNESDAY.....OCTOBER 12, 1859.

The Game of Brag.

The more desperate the political fortunes of Judge Douglas become, the more confident and boastful are his friends. Like the scared boy, "they whistle to keep their courage up." It is well known to every one at all conversant with public sentiment in the Southern States that the essay of Judge Douglas in Harper, and his recent speeches in Ohio, have seriously damaged his prospects in the South, and alienated from him many of those who were previously disposed to forgive him for his defection from the Democratic party on the Lecompton question. But notwithstanding Judge Douglas is every day becoming more weak, his friends are attempting to bolster up his prospects by striving to produce the impression that he is rapidly gaining strength in both the North and South. Whilst we confess we can observe no evidences of the increasing popularity of Judge Douglas, at the same time we see innumerable evidences of his waning strength. So far from being more popular than he has heretofore been, the very reverse is the fact. He will obtain in the National Convention the vote of no Southern State, and it is extremely doubtful whether he can obtain a majority even of the Northern States. We think it may be safely assumed that New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, California, and Oregon, will send to Charleston united anti Douglas delegations. The delegations from other Northern States will be divided, and Judge Douglas could scarcely be nominated even though the nomination for the Presidency depended alone upon the votes of the Northern States in the National Convention.

And each day the prospects for Douglas are becoming more and more desperate. The recent result in California was a distinct repudiation of the especial friends of Douglas in that State. It is well known that Senator Broderick was instructed by the California Legislature to vote for the admission of Kansas with the Lecompton Constitution, that he declined to obey the instructions, and appealed to the people of California to sustain him in his course. The issue of Lecompton and anti Lecompton was distinctly made, and the Lecomptonites triumphed.

But even though nominated, Judge Douglas could not possibly be elected to the Presidency.—He could not obtain the electoral vote of a single Southern State, and it is by no means certain that he could obtain the vote of any Northern State. Those who think that Squatter Sovereignty will break down party lines in the North are vastly mistaken. In Maine the Democrats made the race on a Squatter Sovereignty platform, and were defeated by a much larger majority than they were last year. If the advocacy of Squatter Sovereignty did not add to the strength of the Democratic party in Maine, but, on the contrary, diminished it, what assurance have we that it will be a sufficiently potential dogma next year to insure the success of our party?

The boasted strength of Judge Douglas in the North and South has no real existence. He would make the poorest race of any candidate spoken of for the Presidency. To nominate him at Charleston would not only be to reward a disorganizer, but would also insure inevitable defeat to the Democracy.

SOUND DOCTRINE WELL EXPRESSED.—The Democratic Convention of the First Congressional district of Massachusetts, recently assembled to elect delegates to the Charleston Convention, took occasion, in their resolutions, to express their opinions on the subject of slavery in the Territories, and said that they held to the doctrine that the people of a Territory, when they come to exercise their sovereignty in the formation of a State constitution, have the right to mould the institutions of the nascent State to suit themselves; but that "the Territorial Legislature—the creature of Congress—cannot do what Congress cannot do—that is, either erect or abolish the institution of slavery within the boundaries of the Territory."

Thus, says the Washington Constitution, is sound doctrine. This is the way that popular sovereignty was understood in the compromise measures of 1850, in the Kansas-Nebraska bill, and in the Cincinnati platform. This was the way Mr. Buchanan understood it in his inaugural address; and this is the doctrine laid down by the Supreme Court of the United States.

☞ It has been claimed that Senator Hunter, of Virginia, was a political friend of Senator Douglas, and that he could overpower Henry A. Wise in that State, and return a delegation to Charleston, that would go for Douglas as second choice for the Presidency. The Richmond Examiner is the organ of Hunter, as the Enquirer is of Wise. A late number of the Examiner characterizes the Harper essay of Mr. Douglas as "palpably unconstitutional heresy," and declares "that the South can NEVER be brought to indorse the doctrines avowed by Judge Douglas in his article in Harper's Magazine." "Here, then," says the Richmond Enquirer, "is an end to Mr. Douglas in Virginia."

Sir John Franklin.

The steamer Fox, Capt. McClintock, sent out by Lady Franklin, has returned to England, and has brought definite information as to the fate of Sir John Franklin and the men under his command. The sympathy of the civilized world has been for many years excited in behalf of Franklin and his men, and the full particulars of their trials and fate will be looked for with eager interest. The discovery of the fate of the expedition is mainly due to the noble and persistent efforts of Lady Franklin, whose exertions have been crowned with a melancholy success. A full record of the expedition, dated April 25th, 1848, was found at King William's Island, from which we learn that Franklin died June 11th, 1847, at the age of sixty-one years, having been born April 16th, 1786.

Numerous expeditions had previously been fitted out both in this country and Great Britain to discover the lost navigators, and all had failed in their attempts. In 1848 Great Britain sent out three expeditions. The United States co-operated with Great Britain, and in 1850 the Grinnell expedition, under the command of Lieutenant De Haven, was sent out. Another expedition, under Dr. Kane, started in 1853; and the last one was sent out under Lieutenant Hartstein, and returned in October, 1855.

"The story of Franklin's expedition can now be told, from beginning to end, somewhat as follows:

May 26th, 1845—The Erebus and Terror sailed from Sheerness, officers and men numbering 138 persons.

July 26th, 1845—The expedition was seen in Baffin's Bay.

June 11th, 1847—Sir John Franklin died.

April 22d, 1848—The Erebus and Terror were abandoned in the ice in Victoria Strait. Up to this time 33 of the officers and men had perished.

Spring of 1850—About forty of the expedition were seen by Esquimaux on King William's Island.

Summer of 1850—The bodies of the remnant of the crews were found near Great Fish river.

There is nothing more to be told that is essential to ascertain the fates of the Erebus and Terror expedition. In five years from the time of their sailing all had perished."

EMPLOYMENT OF CAMELS IN THE UNITED STATES' SERVICE.—A letter has recently been received by the Secretary of War from Supt. Beale, dated Fort Tejon, California, in which the writer speaks in the strongest terms of the great advantage to be derived from the employment of camels in the public service in the West. He states that he lately tried effectually the comparative value of mules and camels as pack animals, and the experiment proved beyond all question the great superiority of the camel, both as regards rate of speed and amount of burden. From what he had read, he dreaded the difficulty which seemed to present themselves in breeding them; but his experience had satisfied him that they were as easily bred as cows and calves. He prefers them, for all such purposes that he has engaged them on, to three times the same number of horses and mules.

☞ A noble application is to be made of the Ericsson engine. By means of compressed air, forced into a tank by the motive engine, power is instantly transmitted through long distances, impracticable to either belts or shafting. The engine may be placed in the most convenient point, however remote from the work, if simply connected by a common gas pipe for the conveying of air.—N. Y. Cour. & Enq.

Proposed Abolition of the Law for Enforcing the Payment of Debts

Abolish all laws for the collection of debts, and leave creditors to their own power of discriminating character when giving credit. This is the point to which our growing civilization tends, and to which practical wisdom and philosophy point. We have long since abolished the inhuman laws which used to imprison debtors, in which abolition we took the lead of old Europe. We have now to lead the way to a more important reform. A great portion of the bad debts made arises from the pushing of business on imprudent buyers, extending credits, and in relying on the law for enforcing payment. When without remedy at law, the seller of goods would look exclusively on the character—established character—wherever credit was given; and credits would be more proportioned to the known means of the debtor, both as regards amount and time. The expenses attending the collection of debts are very great and absorb a large portion of the profit. In cases of failures among the dealers, their debtors are, as it is well known, apt to take advantage, and delay, if not altogether refuse payment of their debts. The law is resorted to by them for its evasion. The moral effect of this proposed abolition of the law to compel payment of debts, which it does so imperfectly and at so great an expense of money and time, would be very great.

It would be felt by all traders, that to obtain any credit a reputation for character must first be obtained, and constantly maintained. It would also be felt by the seller that it would not answer to tempt buyers too much. The seller would be more cautious. Besides, cash transactions would increase and speculative dealings diminish. The evasion of the present laws for the collection of debts is very easy to the dishonest man, aided by professional advice; and numerous instances abound of men having become rich, by running largely into debt, putting their property so acquired out of reach, and setting all laws at defiance. Rich men abound whose property is all settled on their wives, or held in trust for them by others, which, in the absence of bankrupt law, cannot be reached.

Indeed, if no law existed to enforce payments of debts, men would look into the moral habits of their debtors before trusting, and not afterwards. They would not be so ready to seduce, by elicit means, any set of men to make purchases. Men so facile of character as to be so led are never reliable.

GAMBLING IN WASHINGTON.—"Occasional," writing about the game houses at the national capital, says:

A gentleman well acquainted with the secrets of these resorts, tells me that he has known as much as ten thousand dollars to be risked on a single game, and others have seen two or three thousand dollars hazarded on a single card, and in a single game. The nonchalance of the players is startling—they lose or win thousands without a sigh or a smile.

* * * * * *

Faro, in which the better encounters the bank, is the prevailing game in these saloons, and although tables are set out, at which what is called "brag," "poker," and other games are played, the principal fascination is the platform, covered with green leather, behind which sits the imperturbable dealer with his pale face, black eye, and monotonous "call;" while, on three sides, are gathered, sitting and standing, rank after rank, anxious and excited spectators, who, breathless with anxiety, watch the little cards as they are dealt from the tin box, and pick up their gains or swallow their losses, with a silence only interrupted now and then by an angry exclamation or a quiet chuckle of exultation. Night is turned into morning, and the laitter frequently surprises the contestants in a struggle. Occasionally a streak of luck befalls an outsider, which, like a prize in a lottery, becomes a sort of advertisement for the gambler. I do not pretend to say that there is fraud in these games, because it frequently happens that there is as much skill among the volunteers as there is in the principals of the establishments, but those who have taken pains to investigate the facts do not hesitate to say that, unless on extraordinary occasions, the bank is sure to beat those who attempt to take up arms against it. So cautious have the keepers of these places become that they are very careful as to whom they admit into their saloons, and it is to this caution that the public is indebted for the preservation of so many of those secrets which, if disclosed, would undoubtedly result in great excitement.

ARREST OF A FIFTH AVENUE GENTLEMAN FOR DEFRAUDING THE REVENUE.—U. S. Circuit Court.—Nelson, J.—The United States against Jonathan K. Herrick.—The defendant a wealthy resident of the Fifth avenue and a wholesale importer of stationery in John street, was recently arrested and held to bail in the sum of $10,000 for receiving goods through the Custom House at an undervaluation. It appears that information of the alleged fraud was given to the Federal officers, who dispatched Mr. Montgomery Gibbs to Europe to investigate the transactions of the defendant.—On Mr. Gibbs' return, the invoices of Mr. Herrick, from 1846 to 1851, were examined. It is alleged that Mr. Herrick had in these invoices understated the quantity, or understated the value of the goods imported, and that goods to the amount of over $125,000 were thus passed at the Custom House.

On Friday afternoon a motion was made to reduce the amount of bail.

Mr. Joseph Blunt appeared for the defendant, and stated that the informer against his client was formerly a clerk in the employment of Mr. Herrick, and subsequently a partner; that this partner, with another, actuated by malicious motives, sought to press this prosecution against Mr. Herrick. He also stated that Mr. Herrick had a suit pending against the informer and his companion for defrauding Mr. Herrick when they were in partnership together.

Mr. Charles H. Hunt, the Assistant District Attorney, submitted the case on the affidavits, and remarked that Mr. Blunt had not shown any good reason in support of the motion.

The Judge considered that if the allegations were sustained, the amount of duties to be recovered would not exceed $30,000, and he therefore reduced the bail to $5,000, with two or more sureties to justify to double that sum.—N. Y. Express.

☞ The fillibusters have left New Orleans as is well known, but it has not been generally stated that just previous to their departure a duel almost came off between two of their leaders. A correspondent of the St. Louis Democrat says:

Col. Thomas Henry, formerly of the United States regular army, and more recently of Walker's Nicaragua army, challenged Col. Frank Anderson, the New York filibuster officer, against whom he has cherished ill blood ever since the first expedition, and with whom he has frequently attempted to bring about an issue and settle the affair. The latter showed more courage (and this quality has been proved in both men a hundred times) than he would have by accepting the challenge, for he answered the cartel by a written statement that he had never injured Col. Henry to his knowledge, and if he had, never intended it, and that he left no ill will toward Henry. So blood was spared.

A NEST OF COUNTERFEITERS BROKEN UP.—For a long time there has existed in the village of Newburgh, on the Ohio, about thirty miles above this, a nest of counterfeiters, who have been flooding the country with bogus coin, but who have managed the business so adroitly as to escape detection. The Deputy U. S. Marshal of the district has been watching the rascals a long while, and on Friday evening last, having made everything sure, made a descent upon a suspected house in the village and succeed in capturing some four or five of the leaders of the gang, among whom were Mr. Samuel Lagget, formerly a tavern keeper of Steubenville, and a Mr. Summs, Conn. In the house the officers found moulds, and all sorts of materials for carrying on the felonious business, together with about a cart load of ready cash all ready for circulation. Among the men arrested and immediately connected with the gang, is a patriarchal looking man about seventy years of age.—Wheeling (Va.) Intel.

☞ The statement is going the rounds to-day that the Republicans and the Southern Americans have arrived at an arrangement for organizing the House without calling upon the anti Lecompton men for any assistance. The latter are not trusted. If this be true, it would not be surprising to see Winter Davis elected Speaker, should he be re-elected.—Wash. Cor. Cin. Gaz.

☞ The fishermen have a very curious way of catching fish in the Rhone. They wade into the water at night with a knife and a water tight lamp. They place the lamp under water, and the trout will soon follow it. As the fish come up to the surface of the water the fisherman kills them with his knife. This is no fish story, but a veritable fact.—Boston Courier.

SALE OF MULES.—Col. B. M. Hall, of this county, sold last week to Messrs. James White and A. Snooks, fifty-five head of mules, at $151 per head. The average hight of the mules was fifteen hands one hall inch.—Shelby News.

☞ Vulcanite Base for Artificial Teeth has been thoroughly tested and used in Eastern cities for the last four years, and proved, beyond a doubt, to be the best substitute ever used as a base for sets of teeth.

It possesses the following advantages over metalic plates: It is not more than half the weight of metal, is indestructible and perfectly cleanly.—The absolute certainty of fitting the mouth renders the old form of plate unnecessary, doing away with more than half the width, getting a better fit, and not at all impairing the taste, as is the case where the whole of the mouth is covered with a plate.—Its extreme lightness renders it particularly adapted to filling out sunken portions of the face. To those who are wearing sets that they cannot eat with, we would say that if they will give us a trial we will guarantee them teeth with which they can eat and wear with ease and comfort. Please call at our office on Fifth street, next door to the Cathedral, and examine specimens.

All other dental operations carefully performed.

RICHARDSON'S IRISH LINENS, DAMASKS, DIAPERS, &C.

CONSUMERS of Richardson's Linens, and those desirous of obtaining the genuine goods, should see that the articles they purchase are sealed with the full name of the firm.

J. N. RICHARDSON, SONS & OWDEN, as a guarantee of the soundness and durability of the Goods.

This caution is rendered essentially necessary, as large quantities of inferior and detective Linens are prepared, season after season and sealed with the name of RICHARDSON, by Irish Houses, who, regardless of the injury thus inflicted alike on the American consumer and the manufacturers of the genuine Goods, will not readily abandon a business so profitable, while purchasers can be imposed on with Goods of a worthless character.

AGREEMENT.

THE Coal Proprietors of Hawesville, Ky., and Canneltan, Ind., upon a full review of the operations in the coal business, during the past season at these points, are satisfied that the business, with its necessary facilities for delivery to steamboats, cannot be sustained at a less price than Seven Cents per bushel. Believing that the price will be just and fair both to the seller and consumer, and at the same time maintain the business on a basis corresponding to the demands for fuel, we have mutually agreed that after this date Seven Cents per bushel will be the uniform price for which Coal will be sold to steamboats at our respective Coal yards; and to avoid a difference of understanding, and that all boats may receive coal at a uniform price, it is agreed that the sale of any order or obligation for the delivery of Coal, by which the consumer pays less than Seven Cents per bushel, will be deemed a violation of this agreement.

If this be indeed Mr. Morrissey's wish, I shall be most happy to accommodate him either before or after my contest with Sayers for the championship of England. BRANDRETH'S PILLS HAVE NO ACTION SAVE ON IMPURITIES.—Young people cannot, but middle-aged and old people can, appreciate that medicine which, being used in sickness, acts only upon the cause of the disease. Around every organ affected, there the medicine penetrates, removing impurities, preventing all settling of the humors into ulcers, swellings or tumors. In Heart Affections, in Epilepsy, in Pleurisy, in Sore Throats, and affections of the respiratory organs generally; in Dyspepsia, those wonderful Pills give immediate relief; and perseverance will be sure to cure. Maladies which have been pronounced beyond human skill have been cured by their use. And is this so wonderful? Behold the reason! BRANDRETH'S PILLS purify the blood; they have no power, except over impure humors, and these being removed, the disease is removed. Millions are deriving health from the use of this innocent medicine, which never weakens, but always strengthen; firstly, by taking out of the body these matters, which built, as it were, the life principle in custody; and, secondly, by imparting a life giving property to the blood.

Sold at Dr. Brandreth's Principal Office, No. 294 Canal street, New York, and by J. B. WILDER & CO. Main street, Louisville, Ky., and by all respectable dealers in medicines. s19 d1m&w4

LOUISVILLE, KY., Sept. 5, 1859.

W. H. Settle—Dear Sir: After having made a thorough examination of the "Vesper Gas," in relation to its illuminating power, chemical composition, &c., I do not hesitate to recommend it as being safer and more economical as well as possessing greater intensity or illumination than any other material now in use.

In the laboratory it is superior to the alcohol as a means of obtaining heat, and will be found of invaluable service to the druggist as well as to the manufacturing chemist. CHAS. W. WRIGHT, M. D.,
Prof. of Chemistry in the Ky. School of Medicine.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 20, 1859.

W. H. Settle Esq.: It gives me great pleasure to state that after a trial of one of the "Vesper Gas Lamps" in my study for six weeks past, and after observing closely for the same length of time the experiments or lighting our "Union Tent" with these lamps, I have entire confidence in their efficiency. It seems to me that they afford all the advantages of the best gas lights to those who live out of the cities and large towns.

The process of preparing and lighting the lamp is so readily learned, the fixtures are so simple and so little liable to get out of order, the cost of the light comparatively so little, and the whole so free from all danger, that it needs only mere acquaintance on the part of the public with the Vesper Gas Lamp to bring them into general use throughout the country.

Yours truly, STUART ROBINSON.

FAIRVIEW, Near Louisville, Sept., 1859.

The "Vesper Gas" makes a brilliant and beautiful light is cheap and portable and perfectly safe.

I have used it in my country dwelling house for several months past, and, after a fair trial, I prefer it to any other mode of illumination that can be obtained outside of the gas limits of the city.

The construction of the "Vesper Gas" burner and retort is so perfectly simple that it cannot get out of order, nor can it explode.

The management of the burners is easily understood, and they require but little more attention to keep clean and in good order than ordinary gas fixtures. The light produced by the "Vesper Gas" I consider fully equal in every respect to any other kind of gas light.

T. TOD. S. KENNEDY

LOUISVILLE, August 19, 1859.

W. H. Settle—Dear Sir: Feeling the necessity of having good light, I have, during several years past, tested and used quite a number and variety of lamps, among others the Vesper. This Lamp is entirely free from danger by explosion, simple in its machinery, and gives at a moderate cost a mild but very bright light, and, in my opinion, is greatly superior to any other style of lamps now in use in the West. Respectfully, s19 d8t&wtf WALKER MORRIS.

THE RIVER continues to recede slowly, with four feet five inches water in the canal last evening by the mark. During the previous twenty-four hours the river had receded fully one inch and a half at the head of the falls, with scant two feet seven inches water in the pass. The weather is delightfully clear and pleasant, though rather warm during the day.

At Pittsburg, yesterday at noon, the river was falling slowly, with pleasant weather, and only two feet two inches water in the channel at the glasshouse, which is pretty low.

The shoalest point along the lower Ohio just now is Caseyville, where six feet water is reported by the latest arrivals.

From Evansville down there is a good stage of water, though falling, with fully nine feet water to Cairo.

MONTGOMERY FOR NEW ORLEANS.—The magnificent packet, James Montgomery, Capt. Archer, arrived from New Orleans yesterday, and to John A Lowery, her attentive clerk, we are indebted for a manifest and memorandum. The Montgomery takes her departure to New Orleans this evening punctually as advertised, and passengers going South had better secure state-rooms early this morning. She starts from Portland at 5 o'clock, providing the choicest fare, and taking the best care of all who travel on her. Capt. Archer and John A Lowery are well known as courteous and attentive officers, while every other department of the boat is well filled, making her one of the very best boats in the trade Persons are requested to be on board in time, as the Montgomery will leave punctually at the hour advertised.

LOUISVILLE, CAIRO AND MEMPHIS MAIL LINE.—The Moses McLellan is the regular mail and passenger packet for Cairo and Memphis to-day. She starts from Portland at 4 o'clock, in charge of careful officers, providing choice fare for passengers She will take freight and passengers to any landing along the route, as well as the mail landings to Cairo. She passed Evansville, yesterday morning at 5 o'clock. She is due this morning, and will return in the evening without fail.

☞The J. M. Sharp, a new packet for the Yazoo river trade, made a trial trip to the head of Six-mile island and back again yesterday morning, and the machinery worked exceedingly well.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 11.—The election in this city passed off quietly here to-day. It is stated that an annoying mistake was made in the tickets of the People's party. Tickets which were folded for one part of the city were sent to another district, and vice versa, and a large number of them were voted before the mistake was discovered.—The Representative and Senatorial tickets thus polled out of their proper districts will be lost.

YORK COUNTY, Pa., October 11.—Thomas E. Cochran's, Opposition, majority in the borough of New York is 300, a gain of 95 for the People's party over last fall, when the Democratic majority in the county was 587.

PITTSBURG—The election passed off quietly; the vote was small, about two-thirds of the average. About 30 districts have been heard from, which indicate the election of the Republican State ticket by about 3,000. The Republican candidates on the county ticket are also elected by smaller majorities.

Galena was the strongest of the Western list, touching 78¾—a rise of 2 per cent. over yesterday's price. Illinois Central firm, and in demand at 68, with little cash stock offering.—Rock Island closed at 64¾, which is 1 per ct better. Reading and Michigan Central were each ¾ per cent. better. The State stocks were buoyant, especially Tennessee 6's, which rose 1¼ per cent. from yesterday's quotations. Wisconsin 6's were ¾ better. In the Railroad bonds there was little change. Illinois Central construction sold at 84¾. The last London quotation of these bonds showed an improvement of ¼ per cent. The money market has a very settled appearance, but no further abatement takes place in the rates of interest, as the banks are obliged to look after the wants of the West. Very prime paper, running into January and February, is obtainable at 7 per cent; choice short bills are in demand at 6½. The call rates are 6, 6½ and 7 per cent, with less doing at the outside figures, as indicated yesterday. A large business has been done in foreign exchange, and the downward tendency of the rate on Loudon is arrested.
